

Our Dream Cruise Haunted Truck

<http://www.mourningcemetery.com/Projects/hauntedtruck/index.htm>

Our area was having a Dream Cruise (June 28, 2003) so we thought it would be a good idea to build a haunted truck. We were up until 3:00am the night before the cruise constructing a little Halloween display for the back of a pickup truck. These are our construction pictures:

This is the uncovered PVC framework. You can see the part which goes over the wheel well.

We incorporated our Mourning Cemetery sign and some masks. Later we added some tombtones.

We also used a cave eyes kit (from Cowlacious Designs) but never really had a chance to enjoy it since it rained that night and we had to pack up the display.

Obtained from
Omarshauntedtrail.com

A couple more views of the truck

And pictures from the day of the cruise:

A nice shot of the back. "Sarah" stared down all the drivers following the truck.

Getting ready to turn onto the street. That's Aaron driving. Notice all the holes... we had a lot of trouble with wind that day and cut the holes to help the plastic be less wind resistant.

The wind was so bad this day, that we lost one of our tombstones and a beware sign from the other side.

Received comments ranging from "really cool" to "It isn't Halloween yet"... but isn't it ALWAYS Halloween!!

Obtained from
Omarshantedtrail.com