Sources

Here are some sources for supplies and equipment. Keep in mind that this page is updated infrequently, and various companies may change their product lines and focus over time.

Note:

It is the nature of information to start becoming obsolete as soon as it is published: gardening books suggest seed companies that went out of business; home repair tomes call for parts and manufactures that are unavailable. Any attempt to rigidly constrain you to just one particular product or vendor is doomed to eventual failure.

Most of what I put on this web site is probably already obsolete as soon as I get it typed. This doesn't worry me much, because just knowing something exists is the most important thing. Finding a source for the thing at a later date is relatively trivial.

If all else fails, do some research on your own, for more current sources.

Disclaimer:

Most of the commercial material here appears without permission, including other Wolfstone Halloween pages that might have bits of images and text snagged from commercial web sites.

If you are a vendor and object to my directing customers to you, please use the "contact Wolfstone" link at the bottom of the page, and I'll be happy to consign you to oblivion.

I am not being compensated in any way for listing these folks. In most cases, my only relationship is as a satisfied customer. Other outfits I know only by reputation.

Disclaimer:

None of the listings here constitute endorsement.

We do not endorse, represent, guarantee, warranty or defend the use of any of the products or services that we provide information about. The entities referenced are your direct source for any conflict. We have no control or knowledge of your activities with them. You deal with any of these entities at your own risk.
