DOORWAYS OF DOOM

Typically, what lays at the end of a yard haunt is the entrance to your home, where you either pass out treats or invite your guests in. The entrance to your haunted home or garage is what will set the mood for what lays beyond. Door decorations can cost as little as ten dollars, and up to hundreds of dollars for full sized door-frames that are really impressive. Below are some of the best ways to let your trick or treats, Halloween party guest and other potential victims know that they are about to meet their doom when they enter!

The Skull Door Frame Pillar

One on top of the other the pressure builds as these contorted skulls are stacked over 80" high, and comes complete with three flickering electric candles. Fits most standard residential doors! We use a cob-web spinner to add a layer of creepy cobwebs!

Halloween theme door knockers can add the finishing touch to your home portal. The Skull Door Knocker shown to the left is a great example of some of the great door decorations available, and is the perfect accouterment to the Skull Door Frame Pillar above!

Grim Reaper Lighted Door Display

Roll the dice and push beyond this door to reveal what may lie ahead. Keep one eye on these desolate bones as they light your way.

Shrouded in black, the menacing, vacu-formed head looks down at your guests, while the hands light their way with two candles (electric). This easy to hang door decoration is a low priced way to welcome your visitors on Halloween night!

Gothic Archway

Wow, this massive piece creates a towering arch over your door. The archway appears to be hand carved out of stone. The columns on either side show a skeleton guardian standing upright with sword in hand. The Gothic Archway makes a fantastic facade for your front door, the entrance to your haunted house or even the gateway to your Halloween graveyard! This ships in 5 pieces that's assembled using the hardware provided. Measures about 8'3" tall by 5'3" wide, so make sure you have enough clearance above your door for this great decoration.

Garage Door Skull

Wow, this decoration is huge! This Gigantic Garage Door Skull & Hands hovers over your garage door, his bony fingers appearing to protrude from inside. Comes with weatherproof foam skull and hands.

The decayed-look only increases with age. This Grim Reaper is easy-to-hang over garage doors, French doors, archways, and entranceways.

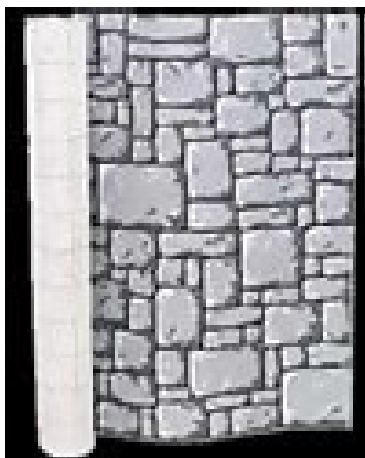

Decorative strings of Halloween lights, such as this orange spider-web are a great way to attract trick or treaters and add a Halloween glow to your home. Even if you don't do a haunt, your house can still look great!

The Glow-in-the-dark Beaded Skull Curtain is another simple solution to highlighting your door or windows.

Dungeon Wallpaper?

This gray stone decor-wrap is an affordable way to create stone type walls for your haunted house, garage or Halloween party. You can tack or tape it to any wall or facade to create an instant and dungeon-like effect. It's a fast, less expensive way to create an illusion that looks great and saves time. The over-size rolls are 4 feet tall by 25 feet long! (product # 50224)

A Halloween wreath hanging on your front door during the haunting season is a wonderful way to say "Welcome to our Haunted Home" to your visitors.

They usually don't cost very much and are an easy project that the entire family can enjoy making together. We hang one on every door, including the garage. They also make great wall decorations for both the home and office.
