

Get: (6) 6ft x 5 3/8" pressure treated pine fence boards and 14 ft. of 1 1/4" x 1 1/4" wood
Cut fence boards as shown below. If your boards have those little "dog ear" cuts on one end, try to keep these on the bottom but don't worry about them as they won't affect the end result much at all.

 - Discard

Smash this end w/ a hammer to make it look like the zombie is breaking out! Be careful.

Nail or screw all of these pieces together.

Obtained from
HauntedTrail.com

 - 1 1/4" x 1 1/4" x 10 3/4"

 - 1 1/4" x 1 1/4" x 15"

Get a small plastic grocery bag, stuff it with newspaper and put a cool, creepy, realistic Halloween mask over it. Poke a hole in the bottom of your "head" and stick it on a wooden cross structure.

Then, fill a large plastic garbage bag with wadded up newspaper and with a staple gun, staple it to the cross apparatus to resemble the body. Cover the body with an old jacket or an old piece of dirty cloth. Not much of the body will be showing so don't spend too much time worrying about that.

Place your zombie in his coffin and place the lid on top, slanted so that he is visible through the broken area in the door. Stick a shovel in the ground next to him and hang an old oil lantern from it. Complete the effect by placing a tombstone behind him that says "If you read this little rhyme, soon on your flesh this corpse will dine" Enjoy!

Coffin w/o door
(front view)

Door (front view)

Right Side View

Front

If you have to, nail or screw a block of wood to the back of your coffin and support it with another piece of wood. Cover this with some old branches.

